PAUB-27323		Grid reporting constant CMDB Backup errors

Fault Analysis Report

Grid reporting constant CMDB Backup errors

An error was found after an upgrade from UltraBand v5.7.16, where the CMDB backup procedure is failing. This was identified as being stale database files from the previous version, where the system could not store the new slim files because of old big files taking all the space on the backup partition. For this, a new script was created which should be executed before (or after) upgrading to version v5.7.16, which manages to clean stale database files left by previous versions.
